Used world, world for sale,
Burns no oil, runs on shale,
When that's all gone, you'll need a sail,
Who will buy, who will buy?

Recent tune-up, runnin' well,
Brand new paint job, sure looks swell,
Leavin' town and have to sell,
Who will buy, who will buy?

To read the news, you'd have to think,
We've pushed our powers to the brink,
We can't afford the kitchen sink,
And who will buy?

The experts scan the falling skies,
And when we open up our eyes,
The truth should come as no surprise,
Who will buy?

Food, Fuel, love and labor,
Are currencies to pay thy neighbor,
Don't read about it in the mornin' paper,
Who will buy, who will buy?

The world is slow to spin around,
From every city to your home town,
The big machine is breakin' down,
Who will buy, who will buy,
Who will buy?
